Raport

The summer school 'Migration from Ukraine in media coverage - people, frames, narratives', which was held in Poznań from 21-27 May 2023, was a co-organised event between the Doctoral School of Humanities, the Doctoral School of Social Sciences, and the Doctoral School of Languages and Literatures at Adam Mickiewicz University.

The goal was an in-depth discussion on how to represent the issue of migration from Ukraine in the media after 24 February 2022.

The school's programme included lectures and workshops by lecturers from several countries. It featured both presentations and workshops aimed at an in-depth recognition of the diversity of media forms and content through the prism of which the media exposed the topic of war refugees from Ukraine. In the construction of the teaching palette, efforts were made to take into account the diverse methodologies of researching media representations that are the focus of the school's participants' attention (particularly, to draw equally on the achievements of the humanities, the social sciences and the sciences of language and literature, bearing in mind the numerous and significant links between these research branches, as well as the potential of interdisciplinarity that can be activated whenever representatives of different disciplines meet).

It should be noted at this point that the school took place in parallel with the Erasmus+ Blended Intensive Programme project 'Reinventing Dialogue in the Multimedia Age', implemented by the Faculty of Political Science and Journalism in collaboration with universities from Belgium (HOWEST University of Applied Sciences), the Netherlands (Fontys University of Applied Sciences) and Spain (University of Malaga). As part of this project, more than twenty students of journalism, journalism and social communication, and audiovisual production from four countries worked together to interview willing participants of the summer school 'Migration from Ukraine in media coverage - people, frames, narratives'. As a result, participation in the summer school for colleagues from Ukraine was also a unique visual opportunity to share their own experiences of living and doing science in a country already struggling with full-scale Russian aggression for the second year. .

The school was furthermore an occasion for the cultural development of the guests, as well as a presentation of the scientific and educational opportunities provided by Adam Mickiewicz University. In this context, the guests from Ukraine could familiarise themselves with the premises base of AMU (visit to the Rector's Office, the Faculty of Political Science and Journalism, the Faculty of Educational Studies, and the Botanical Garden).

Monday (22 May) - on this day, the official opening of the school occurred, performed by the directors of the three doctoral schools co-organising the initiative - Prof. Remigiusz Ciesielski, Prof. Radosław Fiedler, and Prof. Piotr Śliwiński. The substantive part of the meeting concentrated on identifying and discussing the primary problems of Ukrainian refugees in Europe. Among the topics discussed during the lectures, the following issues were included: presentation of a book by Prof. Agnieszka Gromkowska-Melosik and Prof. Aleksandra Boroń on the experiences of Ukrainian refugee women in Poland; discussion of voices and positions of intellectuals with regard to the problem of migration from Ukraine after 24 February 2022; the issue of the role of Ukrainian refugee women in the context of problems of social inequality; analysis of the attitude of European social media towards refugees from Ukraine. On that day, there was also an introduction of the summer school participants to students from Poland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Spain, who came together as part of the Erasmus+ Blended Intensive Programme - "Reinventing Dialogue in the Multimedia Age" to conduct interviews with eager summer school attendees on "Migration from Ukraine in media coverage - people, frames, narratives". In addition, the organisers of the school provided information about AMU, the possibilities of cooperation with our university, and its place in the European academic space.

Tuesday (23 May) - the discussion on various aspects related to the presentation of Ukrainian refugees in the media space continued; the following topics were discussed on that day: the issue of different portrayals of refugees from Ukraine and Belarus in the Polish media; the problem of disinformation in the era of AI; the presentation of refugees from Ukraine in the Ukrainian media. In addition, Prof. Patrice McMahon conducted a workshop during which the school participants were introduced to best practices in conducting qualitative research. It was the day on which, the doctoral school students also planned to conduct interviews with participants of the Erasmus+ Blended Intensive Programme - 'Reinventing Dialogue in the Multimedia Age'.

Wednesday (24 May) - On this day, the participants' attention was drawn to learn more about the poetic image of refugees from eastern Ukraine (a lecture with poet Lyuba Yakimchuk); in addition, Dr Nataliia Voitovych presented the work of students depicting their reaction to the outbreak of a full-scale Russian invasion in February 2022. A lecture on promoting democracy in wartime conditions was also presented that day, and a workshop on planning and implementing research projects on refugees and migration was held. The culmination of the day was the opening of the exhibition 'Art in Times of War', located in the AMU Faculty of Educational Studies.

Thursday (25 May) - attendees were introduced to the educational offerings of the IREX organisation, which develops and provides training materials to facilitate training in the talents of recognising disinformation and critically analysing pro-Russian propaganda materials. The possibility of using storytelling techniques in the process of creating media messages on the fate of refugees from Ukraine was also discussed that day. In addition, Prof. Svitlana Soroka presented a speech on the experiences of Ukrainian citizens who arrived in Poland after 24 February 2022. The day ended with a visit of Ukrainian guests to the Rogal Museum in Poznań.

Friday (26 May) - On Friday, the organisers and participants of the school summed up the results of the week's work. Professor Zbyszko Melosik spoke on behalf of the Adam Mickiewicz University authorities, thanking the Ukrainian guests for their presence and assuring them of our university's openness to further cooperation. The project coordinators, Prof. Dr. Agnieszka Gromkowska-Melosik and Dr Bartosz Hordecki presented certificates to the participants of the summer school and the students of the Erasmus+ Blended Intensive Programme. In addition, the school members visited the "Gate of Poznań" museum.

"Such a wonderful atmosphere was at summer school for Ukrainian Ph.D. students "Migration from Ukraine in media coverage - people, frames, narratives", a relevant and important topic, a comprehensive study approach, and an amazing organization as usual in Poznan.

It was a pleasure to be a guest lecturer there. I am grateful to Uniwersytet im. Adama Mickiewicza w Poznaniu which is the reliable partner of Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv for this invitation.

Many thanks to Prof. Agnieszka Gromkowska-Melosik, dr. hab. Bartosz Hordecki, and Uniwersytet im. Adama Mickiewicza w Poznaniu for your great support of Ukraine and the Ukrainian academic community."

~Bogdana Nosova , Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv

"On February 24, 2022, Russia invaded Ukraine. In the days that followed, reports kept flooding in about a conflict quickly escalating into war. Russia faced immediate backlash and condemnation from the world at large. While the war continues to contribute to an ongoing humanitarian and refugee crisis in Ukraine, a second battlefield has emerged in the online space, both in the use of social media and also in the context of information warfare. The challenge we faced was to reinvent constructive and comprehensive dialogue among individuals of various cultural and political backgrounds in the multimedia age.

It was last Monday, that students from Spain, Belgium and The Netherlands had visited AMU. The Ukrainian interlocutors had been participants of the Summer School 'Migration from Ukraine in media coverage - people, frames, narratives' which took place at AMU.

Our prime aim was to give the voice to Ukrainian PhD students who's perspectives on developing their careers in times when their country struggles with the Russian Federation's aggression, are endangered.

The overall outcome of student's teamwork has exceeded all of our expectations. Although we have had only 7 days to record the interviews, we've put our hearts and souls into this project. Now, we are taking all of this effort forward, so to spread firsthand war experiences from Ukraine and individual stories of those who are facing the most turbulent time in their careers and personal lives.

~ Olena Siden, Petro Mohyla Black Sea National University

It was one of the most interesting summer schools I participated in, probably the best. The organization of the summer school was at the highest level. The organizers have thought through everything to the smallest detail (accommodation, food, support and excursions for school participants).

During my stay at the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, I had the opportunity to listen to lectures delivered by Ukrainian and foreign scientists. In addition, our program was very rich, because it was a Blended Intensive Program for postgraduate students and teachers from Ukraine and Erasmus students from the Netherlands, Belgium, Spain and Poland. Teachers and postgraduate students from Ukraine interviewed students from other countries and recorded podcasts in which they shared their life experiences in Ukraine during the war.

As a result of my cooperation with young Dutch journalists, there is a project called Ukrainian Stories, which you can read about at this link: https://mai-lin00.wixsite.com/ukrainianstories?fbclid=PAAaYrMwYwp3F_aGn1ORoKI9dK-QVbh039Yqqt8DY51DCaLfSjTdl8I833o8I_aem_AcQd2PBTcFJKcndB129b3kXU-Um2Jc1UFa4y0-MwABpzfd5BiuuFJUac6BXezAwbvOO

I hope that in the future I will have the opportunity to participate in a similar project again and give lectures at the Faculty of Political Science and Journalism at the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań. Olha Sharan, PhD, Associate Professor, Department of European and Regional Studies, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, Ukraine

~ Fedotova Lesia, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv

From 21 to 27 May 2023, a delegation from Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University, consisting of Associate Professor Olha Kuzmuk (Department of Political Science and Public Administration) and PhD students Tetiana Hordovska (Faculty of Psychology) and Lesia Fedoruk (Faculty of History, Political Science and National Security) visited Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznan, to participate in the summer school "Migration from Ukraine in media coverage - people, frames, narratives".

The city of Poznan is a reflection of a unique combination of rationality and the spirit of antiquity. Modern university buildings, state-of-the-art logistics, human centricity - all of this is something that cannot leave you indifferent and makes a noticeable mark on the perception of modern science and its connection with the development of society.

The organisation and spirit of the summer school surprisingly combined extremely interesting and informative presentations with cordiality, sincerity, and a desire to support and help Ukrainians in times of war.

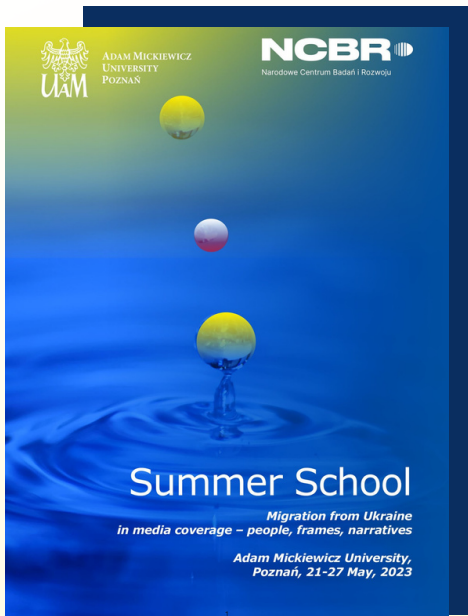

During the summer school, we had a unique opportunity to listen to lectures from both representatives of Adam Mickiewicz University and guest lecturers. We visited the exhibition "Art in times of war" (in memoriam Jędrzej Stepak), prepared with the participation of Ukrainian and Polish scholars. The excursion to the Croissant Museum and the Ostrow Tumski Museum "Ichot - gate of Poznan" was interesting.

Postgraduate students from Ukraine gained an interesting experience of participating in interviews organised and conducted by students of journalism and social communications from Belgium, the Netherlands, Poland and Spain, dedicated to the coverage of Ukrainian life during the war.

We sincerely thank all the participants and organisers of the summer school. Special thanks to prof. Bartosz Hordecki, prof. Agnieszka Gromkowska-Melosik, prof. Aleksandra Boron and everyone else who joined us. You made our stay at Adam Mickiewicz University unforgettable.
