Adam Mickiewicz University's Involvement in Supporting
Ukraine and Ukrainians
Since February 24, 2022

On February 24, 2022, Adam Mickiewicz University was put to the test. Typically, students, doctoral students, and faculty members select their own exam dates.

This time, however, none of us could have predicted the circumstances under which our academic community would have to take an exam not included in any study program or promotion procedure. That exam was a reflection of our attitude toward others, their suffering, loneliness, and confusion. This occurred at a time when tragic news from the Ukrainian front was coming in every hour, and crowds of refugees were arriving in our city. Although the university was not established to provide assistance and support to those in need, we could not remain indifferent. As an academic community, we did not remain indifferent!

All AMU employees were enormously committed and gave their all. That is why no one expected payment—only a helping hand. The atmosphere of spring and summer 2022 was unforgettable. After the period of isolation due to the COVID pandemic ended, we entered a period of spontaneous, deep, and sincere solidarity with refugees from Ukraine and those who remained in their war-torn country.

Only a university made up of wonderful people with open, sensitive hearts could undertake so many initiatives and pass the test of human solidarity. This is not the first time this commendable national trait has been proven. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to everyone for every gesture shown to those in need after February 24, 2022, even the smallest one.

Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska
AMU Rector

As a historian, I have a special perspective on the experience of war because it has been present since the earliest known and described events in human history. War was also a frequent topic of conversation within my family. However, what happened after February 24, 2022, brought a completely different kind of experience—one that is personal and direct and that will only be written about in books.

When I took over the coordination of the special Ukraine aid team by decision of the Rector, I was unaware of what this responsibility would entail. I quickly learned, however, that my phone battery would not last a day. I knew Ukraine well, having visited the country before and having collaborated with Ukrainian universities. I had also represented our university at many events. For example, in the fall of 2021, the Faculty of Philosophy organized the "Polish-Ukrainian Summer School Freedom and Politics," which included a study visit to the European Solidarity Center in Gdańsk.

From the very first hours of Russian aggression against Ukraine, we saw how AMU employees understood the meaning of the word "solidarity." Everyone volunteered, giving their time, energy, and money. Regardless of our position at AMU, we initiated many activities. Requests from the university administration, local authorities, and institutions in need of substantive support were always met with a positive response. We had no problem finding help to implement AMU initiatives from private individuals, organizations, foreign entrepreneurs (e.g., a transport company from Italy), and partner universities (e.g., in Taiwan). Unfortunately, the war is still ongoing, and our solidarity is still needed.

This report is an attempt to compile information on the various activities in which Adam Mickiewicz University and its employees were involved. However, we must be aware that this is an incomplete list, particularly regarding the personal involvement of AMU staff and students. No one can gather all this information.

Prof. Rafał Witkowski
AMU Vice-Rector for International Cooperation

AMU's activities in support of Ukraine

1. Adam Mickiewicz University stands in solidarity with Ukraine

In the morning, AMU Rector Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska sent a letter to all employees encouraging them to support all aid initiatives and declaring the university's support for Ukraine and Ukrainians. On the same day, the AMU academic community strongly condemned the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine and expressed its full solidarity with the entire Ukrainian nation, its support for Ukraine as a sovereign state, and declared all possible assistance. At the same time, an appeal was made to the Polish Ministry of Education and Science to launch, in cooperation with the National Agency for Academic Exchange, special financial and legal measures to support Ukrainian scientists, doctoral students, and students who wished to continue their activities at Polish universities.

2. Assistance in translating documents for students from Ukraine

In the first hours after the Russian Federation invaded Ukraine, AMU launched the "Solidarity with Ukraine" campaign, which included numerous individual initiatives as well as institutional assistance provided by the university.

In order to meet the needs of students and researchers fleeing the war, the AMU Foundation also launched a special aid fund (scholarship fund) for those wishing to continue their studies at AMU or conduct research at the AMU Foundation.

24 February 2022

3. Assistance in translating documents for students from Ukraine

Dr. Olha Lehka-Paul (member of the AMU Faculty of English) and a sworn translator of Ukrainian, offered her assistance to students from Ukraine in matters related to the preparation and translation of documents and in interpreting. Her example was soon followed by many others, and soon dozens of AMU employees began working with various local and state institutions that had requested support in this matter.

4. Cooperation with municipal institutions on aid for refugees

From the outbreak of the war's earliest days, AMU employees helped scientists from Ukraine, with whom they had worked for years, as well as thousands of refugees forced to flee their country. They provided accommodation, often in private homes.

6. Statement by the Polish academic community in connection with Russia's aggression against Ukraine

Excerpt:

The Polish academic community strongly condemns the attack on our neighbor and the use of violence against it. We express our full solidarity with the entire Ukrainian nation and our support for Ukraine as a sovereign state, and we declare our willingness to provide all possible assistance in these difficult times. At the same time, we appeal to the Ministry of Education and Science to launch, in cooperation with the National Agency for Academic Exchange, special measures, including legal ones, to support Ukrainian scientists, doctoral students, and students who wish to continue their activities at Polish universities.

7. Faculty of Archaeology in solidarity with Ukraine. Statement by the Dean

A statement by the Deans of the AMU Faculty of Archeology was published on the Faculty's website signed by Prof. Andrzej Michałowski, Prof. Marcin Ignaczak, and Prof. Jacek Wierzbicki.

Dear Colleagues,

Archaeologists of Independent Ukraine,

On this day, when the aggressor's bombs are falling on your cities, destroying the beautiful Ukrainian land and burying its citizens, we would like to express, on behalf of ourselves and the Faculty of Archaeology of Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, that we are with you, wholeheartedly supporting your aspirations for a life in peace and independence. Our faculty has many years of cooperation with Ukraine. We have worked side by side to learn about the heritage of the past. Today, let the friendships forged back then speak for themselves – we are one big family and we are united. Dear Friends, stay strong and rest assured that we are with you and support your struggle. You can count on us in your time of need! Long live a free and sovereign Ukraine!

The statement was also sent to archaeological institutions in Poland and Europe.

10. Coordination of assistance

The day after the outbreak of full-scale war, the Faculty of Law and Administration launched a coordinated effort to create a legal aid system in Poznań for Ukrainian citizens arriving in Poznań and the surrounding areas. These activities were initiated by the municipal authorities of Poznań, represented by Ms. Iwona Matuszczak-Szulc, Director of the Department of City Development and International Cooperation.

The project received the support of AMU Rector, Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska, and the entire project was coordinated by Dr. Marcin Princ from the Faculty of Law and Administration.

The project began with the organization of training courses on specific legal issues for those providing advice, as well as the coordination and systematization of activities. The issues to be addressed were:

- basic steps that Ukrainian citizens should take upon arrival in Poland,
- legalization of stay and documents, including translation of documents and applications for refugee status,
- conditions necessary to take up employment,
- determining the period after crossing the border during which you can stay in Poland without a passport,
- documents required to legalize stay in Poland,
- stay of minors without the consent of one of their parents,
- requirements for renting accommodation,
- medical care for children and the elderly,
- obtaining medical insurance.

This was accompanied by determining the places, times, and hours of assistance. It became necessary to coordinate the information campaign about the initiative, prepared by the City Council, and make it available on websites and in the media. Apart from the Dean of the Faculty of Law and Administration, Dr. Marcin Princ, who specializes in legal issues concerning refugees, was responsible for coordinating activities in this area.

The following entities were involved in providing assistance and cooperation:

- the Advocate Bar Association and the Bar Association of Attorneys-at-Law - legal assistance,
- the Chamber of Civil Law Notaries in Poznań - certification and legalization of documents,
- Wielkopolska Medical Chamber - the use of experience gained from cooperation with residents from Ukraine and their assistance,
- AMU Vice-Rector for international cooperation, Prof. Rafał Witkowski - translation support and assistance from Ukrainian students studying at AMU.

The whole initiative was coordinated by the Poznań City Office. A legal aid point was set up at the Poznań International Fair. There, lawyers and trainee lawyers, as well as trained students from the Faculty of Law and Administration provided formal assistance and information on legal matters.

11. 'IKE with Ukraine' fundraiser

The AMU Institute of European Culture (IKE) launched a fundraiser for the people of Ukraine. Other faculties at Adam Mickiewicz University also took similar action..

15. Students of the AMU Faculty of Theology support refugees from Ukraine

In the first days after the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine, the Student Council of the AMU Faculty of Theology organized a refugee aid center in the faculty building. The collection was carried out in cooperation with the Caritas Foundation of the Archdiocese of Poznań. Material resources and all necessary products indicated by Caritas were collected. Students took turns at the reception point for refugees from Ukraine organized by Caritas at the Poznań International Fair, helped receive and sort donations, and were involved in assisting refugees accommodated in seminaries in Poznań and Gniezno. They supported refugees by facilitating access to medical assistance (contact with doctors, transport, registration, translations), administrative assistance (contact with relevant offices and institutions), transport (cars and buses), finding employment, organizing integration activities for children, collecting clothes and sweets for children, kitchen work, etc.

16. AMU Senate stands in solidarity with Ukraine

The Senate of Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań unanimously adopted a position on solidarity with the Ukrainian people, unequivocally condemning the Russian invasion and suspending cooperation with Russian scientific institutions. The Senate also assured that the university would make every effort to support AMU students, doctoral students, and employees from Ukraine, as well as their loved ones, in every way possible. In addition to these symbolic gestures, a whole range of practical measures were taken. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities, the "AMU Stands with Ukraine" campaign was launched, which included both a number of individual initiatives and institutional assistance provided by the university.

52. Accommodation for refugees. Involvement of the AMU academic community

The AMU academic community actively joined in helping to accommodate people from Ukraine fleeing the war. AMU students, particularly those from the Institute of Anthropology and Ethnology, Eastern Studies and East Slavic Studies, were actively involved in volunteering at many aid centers in Poznań.

University staff, including Prof. Izabela Main, Prof. Natalia Bloch, Dr. Zbigniew Szmyt, Prof. Kinga Kamieniarz-Gdula, Dr. Michał Gdula, and many others, were also involved in coordinating accommodation centers and assisting with the accommodation of refugees.

53. Accommodation for refugees

In order to support students, doctoral students, and researchers from Ukraine arriving in Poznań, AMU made a sports hall on Młyńska Street available to the Wielkopolska provincial governor. Thanks to cooperation with other organizations and business partners, the hall was equipped and adapted to the needs of refugees. In the first weeks after the outbreak of the war, the sports hall was used primarily to accommodate families with children immediately after their arrival in Poznań. According to estimates, around 200 people were accommodated there at any one time.

Since the outbreak of the war, AMU had been providing assistance by taking in families and relatives of our students and employees into student dormitories. In the first weeks after February 24, 2022, over 230 people from Ukraine, including 80 children, were accommodated in AMU facilities made available for refugees, including student dormitories, and recreation centers.

AMU spokesperson Małgorzata Rybczyńska reported that 20 refugee families were also taken to AMU accommodation in Gniezno, with places found in a dormitory in Kalisz, and 180 places for refugees were made available by the Collegium Polonicum in Ślubice.

In addition, AMU sent a list of 100 people to the Wielkopolska Provincial Office: psychologists, educators, and social work students who offered support to refugees. AMU also provided a list of about 100 translators who volunteered to help institutions and organizations.

55. AMU participation through CRASP in the drafting of the "Act on Assistance to Ukrainian Citizens in Connection with the Armed Conflict"

On March 12, 2022, the Parliament of the Republic of Poland adopted an act on assistance to Ukrainian citizens in connection with the armed conflict. Under this legal act, Ukrainian citizens and Polish citizens who, on February 24, 2022, were students of a university operating in Ukraine and were interested in continuing their studies at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, could apply for admission to studies as part of a transfer from a Ukrainian university. The decision on the transfer was made by the Faculty Deans in accordance with legal requirements.

The Act also laid down specific rules for entrusting work to Ukrainian citizens legally residing in the territory of Poland, the rules for granting financial assistance by state administration and local government units, the rights of Ukrainian citizens residing in Poland, and special regulations concerning the education, upbringing, and care of children and students who are Ukrainian citizens.

With Ukrainian students who wanted to study at AMU or another university in Poland in mind, the Centre of Polish Language and Culture for International Students prepared an intensive Polish language course comprising 350 hours (language classes and additional subjects), delivered in a hybrid form. The total cost of the five-month course for 20 participants was PLN 65,000.

As part of the financial support from the social fund for students from Ukraine, assistance was provided in the form of living expenses, scholarships for full-time students, ad hoc financial assistance, and periodic exemptions from dormitory fees.

56. "Great POWER in Simple Words!"

The Department of Multicultural Education and Research on Social Inequality at the AMU Faculty of Educational Studies organized a competition aimed at helping Ukrainian children adapt to their new difficult situation. The idea was to create an illustrated literary or poetic work for children from Ukraine who had emigrated to Poland as a result of the war. The winning entries were published in a book by AMU Publishing House. The publication "The World in Children's Eyes" also features artwork by children from Ukraine who are currently living in Poland as a result of war-induced emigration. The publication is available in two languages: Polish and Ukrainian.

109. "Solidarity with Ukraine" website on the AMU Intranet

Individual aid activities and volunteer applications were collected on a dedicated website on the Intranet, where AMU employees could report needs and inform about opportunities to provide assistance, including various types of support from AMU staff and students (e.g., accommodation, assistance in completing residence formalities, contacts with healthcare facilities, educational institutions, translation of documents), and registration of refugees from Ukraine in need of assistance.

The website also provides forms for registering volunteers. AMU students and staff who provided assistance at registration points and train stations where refugees arrived, as well as support (mainly translation) in contacts between refugees and institutions (including the Social Insurance Institution, City Hall, Municipal Social Welfare Center, and Provincial Labor Office) and in primary schools (registering school children from Ukraine).

In addition, many AMU students volunteered to support the municipal and provincial authorities (mainly in ad hoc interpreting and translation). In the first few days, over 80 people (students, graduates, and employees) from the Faculty of Modern Languages and Literatures alone volunteered to help with translations. This initiative was organized at the request of Ms. Iwona Matuszczak-Szulc, Director of the Department of City Development and International Cooperation.

110. Website tab

A dedicated tab was also added to the AMU website, containing a collection of current information useful to Ukrainian students and anyone offering assistance. The tab also served as a 'contact point' for those in need and those offering support.

111. Speech by AMU Rector

Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska, AMU Rector and Chair of the Conference of Rectors of Universities in Poland, spoke at a meeting of the Polish Parliament's Standing Subcommittee on Science and Higher Education. She said:

At the moment, we already have several students who have been admitted to AMU and at the same time have received information from their home universities that they should participate in online classes conducted by those universities. It is difficult to imagine that these people would have dual student status. So I am reporting a problem that arose at our university just last week.

A meeting was held at the University Library in Poznań: "You will learn: how the Ukrainian state began, who the Cossacks were, who Ivan Franko was, who the Banderites are, why artists and intellectuals were shot in Ukraine, who and how the Ukrainian population was massacred by starvation. Learn about the history of our eastern neighbor in a nutshell, from the earliest times to the present day."

133. Student Internships for Ukraine

As part of the ID-UB program, a competition for master's level students was launched. The aim of the competition was to enable students fleeing war-torn Ukraine to pursue second-cycle studies, especially in the area of research-based learning. The initiative was intended to contribute to the academic development of students from Ukraine and enable them to complete their studies. The competition was a complementary element of the NAWA program "AMU Stands in Solidarity with Ukraine 2022." The funding included: an AMU internship scholarship for up to 5 months of PLN 2,000.00/month, additional support could be provided through referral to an intensive Polish or English language course. Five students benefited from the support for a total amount of PLN 50,000. The winners conducted research, actively participated in scientific conferences, and published scientific articles. Two of them are continuing their studies at the AMU Doctoral School of Natural Sciences and Doctoral School of Social Sciences.

162. Adam Mickiewicz University's support for Ukrainian students – the story of Iryna Tverdokhlib

Iryna Tverdokhlib, a student from Ukraine, approached Adam Mickiewicz University with a request for help in continuing her studies in special education.

On July 6, 2022, during a meeting with Prof. Kinga Kuszak, Vice-Dean for Student Affairs, Iryna submitted an application for admission to the university. The meeting took place at a difficult time in her life – on the same day, the university where she had previously studied in Ukraine was destroyed by rocket fire.

Thanks to the efforts of AMU staff, in particular Prof. Danuta Kopeć, Iryna received the necessary assistance in organizing her studies. The support included both formal matters and help in adapting to the new academic environment.

Iryna's story shows the commitment of Adam Mickiewicz University to helping students who, due to the war, are looking for opportunities to continue their education. Thanks to the efforts of the university's staff and lecturers, such as Prof. Kinga Kuszak and Prof. Danuta Kopeć, Iryna was able to resume her studies and start a new chapter in her life in Poznań.

187. On the need for strategic thinking in the development of scientific contacts between Poland and Ukraine

An article by Prof. Rafał Witkowski, AMU Vice-Rector for international cooperation, was published in the magazine Perspektywy. The article highlights the need for transformation of Ukrainian higher education:

The post-war reconstruction and rebuilding of Ukraine will be closely linked to the transformation of its higher education system and its adaptation to European requirements. On this path, Ukrainian universities need not only political and financial support, but also conceptual and human resources. That is why Adam Mickiewicz University is investing in people who will build bridges between the worlds of science in Poland and Ukraine.

Prof. Witkowski gives examples of AMU activities aimed at supporting people from Ukraine fleeing the war. The article ends with a vision of Ukraine's post-war future, an important element of which will be building bridges between the worlds of science in Poland and Ukraine.

211. Ukrainian students on the NAWA program "AMU Stands in Solidarity with Ukraine"

NAWA initiated a program in response to the war in Ukraine called "Solidarity with Ukraine," which aimed to enable Ukrainian students and doctoral students to continue their education in Poland. Adam Mickiewicz University was fully involved in these activities. Ukrainian students shared their thoughts in the article. One of them was Kateryna Trasenko, who, thanks to NAWA's support, began her linguistics studies at AMU in Poznań.

An excerpt from Kateryna Trasenko's statement:

I am very grateful to NAWA for supporting Ukrainians during this difficult time for us. This scholarship helped me prepare for my studies in Poland and reduced the number of hours I have to work during this time. Thanks to this, I can develop academically. (...) I like the form of education offered at Adam Mickiewicz University. The lecturers are helpful and encourage active participation in class discussions, which gives me the opportunity to express my opinions.

220. Bilateral agreements between AMU and Ukrainian universities concluded in 2022

In 2022, Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań concluded cooperation agreements with the following Ukrainian universities:

- Yuriy Fedkovych Chernivtsi National University
- Oles Honchar Dnipro National University
- Kyiv International University
- Dnipro University of Technology
- Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute
- Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University
- Zhytomyr Polytechnic State University

The cooperation agreement was extended to:

- Petro Mohyla Black Sea National University

Cooperation agreements serve to build bridges between Polish and Ukrainian science, supporting the joint development of knowledge, academic solidarity, and charting paths towards a better future.

221. We Teach Polish! Foreign language teaching preparation for Ukrainians

The project was launched in cooperation with Alfred Nobel University in Dnipro. The project activities are a response to the growing interest in learning Polish among Ukrainians and staff shortages in the labor market (mainly among teachers/teachers assisting in teaching Polish as a foreign language). The project activities were a continuation of the cooperation between Adam Mickiewicz University and the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences in 2020 as part of the project "We Teach Polish in Ukraine!"

(Project website: <http://olga95-up.home.amu.edu.pl/>)

Dr Olga Bambrowicz was appointed project manager. The implementation period was set from January 1, 2023, to December 30, 2023. The project was financed by NAWA.

232. Publication of the AMU Centre for Migration Studies Report 01/2023

The author of the report "Comparative analysis of online discourse about Ukrainians before and after the Russian invasion from the perspective of corpus-assisted critical discourse analysis" is Dr Magdalena Jaszczyk-Grzyb, assistant professor at the AMU Institute of Applied Linguistics.

The main objective of this project was to examine how Ukrainians are portrayed online in Poland in the context of recent events related to Russia's invasion of Ukraine. The study compares two portrayals of Ukrainian citizens in Polish online communication, categorizing them by timeframe: the first portrays Poles' attitudes toward the Ukrainian minority before Russia's invasion, and the second portrays them after the invasion. The main research question is whether the image of Ukrainians in Polish online communication will be similar before and after Russia's aggression in Ukraine.

233. Additional scholarships for Ukrainian scholars

Thanks to additional funding, 18 students and early-career researchers have joined the NCN scholarship program for the Ukrainian scientific community. Most of the new scholarship recipients continued their studies and research at AMU, including Yulia Kharlan, a PhD student at the Institute of Magnetism of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine. She completed her NCN scholarship as part of a team led by Prof. Maciej Krawczyk.

The group I work with at AMU is one of the strongest in the world, specializing in magnetism physics, in particular in magnonics, said Yulia Kharlan.

Students Daria Popadiuk and Yulia Kharlan, under the supervision of Prof. Maciej Krawczyk, carried out projects as part of the NCN program "Special program of the National Science Center for students and scientists from Ukraine without a doctoral degree."

UMO-2022/01/4/ST3/00005 - Daria Popadiuk, MA, amount: PLN 60,000

UMO-2022/01/4/ST3/00007 - Yulia Kharlan, MA, amount PLN 60,000

Hania Reshetnia, a student from Ukraine, also joined the first year of her second-cycle studies in physics. She completed her master's thesis under the supervision of Prof. Maciej Krawczyk. During her studies, she received funding from Adam Mickiewicz University.

234. Conference "Foreign Students in Poland"

During the conference "Foreign Students in Poland," which took place in Białystok, AMU Rector Bogumiła Kaniewska observed that "the internationalization of Polish universities has now reached a level where universities should be treated as international institutions."

Rector Kaniewska emphasized:

Science should care about the world on a global scale. From this point of view, the brain drain from Ukraine is becoming a problem for all of us, as it is detrimental not only to Ukrainian science and Europe, but to the whole world. And the responsibility of universities to counteract this phenomenon is a global responsibility.

237. Start of AMU winter and summer schools

The idea behind the organization of winter and summer schools was to create a space for exchange between students, doctoral students, and employees of AMU's partner universities in Ukraine. The coordinators of the individual school programs are AMU lecturers specializing in various fields.

The organizational coordinators of the summer schools were Prof. Rafał Witkowski, Vice-Rector for international cooperation, Prof. Rafał Dymczyk, and Dr. Kostiantyn Mazur. The school activities were also supported by Joanna Barszcz, Director of the International Relations Center.

By mid-June, a total of 10 thematic summer schools covering various scientific disciplines had been organized. Guests were able to participate in a series of lectures, workshops, meetings, cultural events, and trips around the university, Poznań, and other parts of Poland as part of the NAWA project "Solidarity with Ukraine."

The implementation of the project at AMU began in February 2023 with the first summer school, "Across Disciplines: How to Study in an Interdisciplinary Framework," prepared by a team from the Interdisciplinary Individual Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences. In total, representatives (students, doctoral students, and lecturers) from eight Ukrainian partner universities took part in the school. The content coordinator was Prof. Rafał Dymczyk.

The schools were organized through two sources of funding:

- NAWA - BPI/UE/2022/4-00: Cooperation between Adam Mickiewicz University and Ukrainian universities within the European University Alliance – budget for 300 participants in 10 schools;
- NCBR - POWR.03.05.00-00-Z303/18: budget for 607 participants in 20 schools.

A total of 31 AMU summer schools were organized in 2023.

241. "Green House": from a club for refugee children to a Polish-Ukrainian center for children and youth development

As a result of cooperation with the Polish Evangelical Society, in March 2022, a club for Ukrainian children and young people fleeing the war, called "Zielony domek" (Green House), was established. It is run by Prof. Małgorzata Grzywacz (AMU Institute of Cultural Studies) in cooperation with the Evangelical Church of the Augsburg Confession in Poznań. Children and young people up to the age of 18 found care here. They are provided with educational and sports activities, trips, and other activities (including intensive learning).

After a year of operation, the Green House is changing its formula to become a more creative, supportive, and developmental centre. As of February 25, 2023, it is called the Polish-Ukrainian Center for the Development of Children and Youth.

247. Areopagus of Universities

The Areopagus of Universities is a joint project of Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań, the Jagiellonian University, the University of Warsaw, and the Catholic University of Lublin. As part of a series of debates, experts from each university discuss various aspects of changes in the modern world. The second edition focuses on the war in Ukraine.

The debate "Refugees. Coexistence or Assimilation? Social Aspects of War" took place on March 9 in the Lubrański Hall at Collegium Minus. Experts discussed the forms of assistance provided by Polish cities and universities to refugees from Ukraine, the impact of the presence of refugees on society, and issues of epigenetic inheritance.

The experts and representatives of Adam Mickiewicz University were Prof. Jakub Isański, and Prof. Marek Nowak from the Faculty of Sociology. The discussion was moderated by Dr. Katarzyna Jankowiak from the AMU Faculty of English.

304. Summer school "Ukraine and the World: Crises, Migrations, Identities in Contemporary Culture"

The summer school program was prepared by lecturers of Ukrainian studies at Adam Mickiewicz University. The classes familiarized participants with issues related to literature, theater, popular culture, identity, and the crisis of narrative in the context of the Russian-Ukrainian war. Participants had the opportunity to meet students of Ukrainian studies in Poznań, which helped them establish direct friendships. What all summer schools have in common and what resonates in the participants' reflections is their gratitude for a safe and peaceful stay in the charming surroundings of the Dębina Palace, a place that provided them with mental respite from the everyday reality of war.

Content coordinators: Prof. Jarosław Poliszczuk, Dr. Ryszard Kupidura, Prof. Anna Horniatko-Szumilowicz.

334. Summer school “University Library and Digital Transformation”

Twenty-eight librarians from various academic centers in Ukraine came to Poznań as part of this edition of the summer school. Each day included lectures, training sessions, project presentations, workshops, and trips, all of which were designed to help participants gain new knowledge and practical skills. The librarians also had the opportunity to view the collections of the University Library and the libraries of AMU organizational units. They also visited the Raczyński Library in Poznań.

Content coordinators: Director Małgorzata Dąbrowicz and Joanna Fechner from the University Library in Poznań and Agnieszka Wojciechowska.

One of the participants shared her reflections:

It is encouraging to see that libraries in Ukraine and Poland share the same guiding values: user orientation, innovation, accessibility, openness, inclusiveness, partnership, and professionalism. University libraries strive for the same goals: supporting research and science; developing a reader-oriented service model; improving digital content and services; and enhancing physical and virtual communication in library spaces. The sincerity and hospitality of our Polish colleagues was evident in every library we visited..

The summer school was organized with the support of University of Tomorrow II – an integrated development program of Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań, POWR.03.05.00-00-Z303/18.

335. 100 Ukrainian books for the Raczyński Library

During the AMU summer school "University Library and Digital Transformation," over 100 books were donated to the Raczyński Library, which were collected by the staff of the AMU International Relations Center during the summer schools.

"The idea of collecting books came up in February 2023, when the Raczyński Library asked if AMU had any books in Ukrainian, as there is a growing demand for such books among Ukrainian citizens living in Poznań due to the ongoing war. At the same time, this request coincided with the inauguration of a series of AMU summer schools for Ukrainian partner universities. The staff of the AMU International Relations Centre decided to take advantage of this fact and responded to numerous questions from participants asking 'What can we bring as a gift?' with 'A popular book,'" says Dr Kostiantyn Mazur.

During the AMU summer schools almost 300 books were collected and distributed among the Raczyński Library, the Adam Mickiewicz University Library, the Faculty of History Library, the Faculty of Modern Languages and Literatures, and the Poznań Society of Friends of Learning Library.

346. Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań is a European partner in the Erasmus+ CBHE project "Digital University – Open Ukrainian Initiative (DigiUni)"

The Erasmus+ CBHE project "Digital University – Open Ukrainian Initiative (DigiUni)" was launched at the beginning of December. The project consortium, led by Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv, has 26 project partners: 16 Ukrainian, 10 European partners (including AMU) and 5 associated partners.

Based on EU best practices, the project team will create a unified digital education ecosystem in Ukraine that will provide continuous, high-quality, inclusive, and transparent education that, regardless of the location of students and teachers, will use the existing digital innovations in education to create a paradigm for developing future innovations. EPICUR defines this project as a satellite project of the alliance. The end of the project is scheduled for November 30, 2027.

347. Start of work on the Polish-Ukrainian Student Project TOGETHER

This was the first joint Polish-Ukrainian meeting of the team involved in the project. The project is a continuation of the cooperation initiated during the summer school for students from Ukraine "Education Towards Communication." During the week-long summer school for students from Ukraine, in June 2023, friendships were formed, experiences were exchanged, and above all, a great desire and willingness to continue the cooperation were expressed. Based on these experiences, the idea of initiating long-term activities was conceived. It was in this atmosphere that the Polish-Ukrainian Student Project TOGETHER was created.

The aim of the project is to integrate the Polish and Ukrainian university communities around common challenges in the field of education in the broadest sense. Nine thematic projects have been developed as part of this initiative. They are being implemented in cooperation between students from Poland, Adam Mickiewicz University, and students from selected universities in Ukraine. The project leaders and coordinators are lecturers from the AMU Faculty of Educational Studies. The teamwork lasted several months and was carried out online. The project culminated in another edition of the AMU summer school and a conference, during which the results of many months of cooperation were presented. The project was initiated by Prof. Kinga Kuszak and her team (Dr. Grażyna Barabasz and Veronika Soloshenko, MA, later joined by Dr. Monika Christoph).

348. Polish Language School for students from Ukraine

The school, organized by Adam Mickiewicz University, focused on teaching the Polish language and culture to psychology students and lecturers from Ukraine. The school was attended by academic teachers and psychology students from three Ukrainian universities:

- Oles Honchar Dnipro National University (DNU),
- Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University (VNU),
- National Pedagogical Drahomanov University in Kyiv (NUP).

The main goal of the project was immersive language learning and the integration of teaching with experiencing Polish culture, enabling participants to gain a deeper understanding of the language in its cultural context. The school program included intensive Polish language courses, meetings with experts, and study visits. Participants had the opportunity to visit the Action and Cognition Laboratory at the Faculty of Psychology and Culture and take part in neuroscience workshops organized by Dr. Agnieszka Nowik and Dr. Maciej Ras. An interesting part of the program was a presentation of the work of Stefan Szajdak, a Polish poet, by his son, Prof. Lech Szajdak.

The staff of the AMU Centre of Polish Language and Culture for International Students: Dr. Monika Válková Maciejewska, Patrycja Krasowska, MA, and Dr. Magdalena Kaczmarek organized workshops for the lecturers on the methodology of teaching Polish grammar, the methodology of creating teaching materials, and the methodology of organizing Polish language certification exams. The event was a significant experience for the participants, combining language learning with cultural and psychological knowledge, as well as promoting intercultural understanding and cooperation.

Content coordinator: Prof. Mariusz Urbański.

The summer school was organized with the support of University of Tomorrow II – an integrated development program of Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań, POWR.03.05.00- 00-Z303/18.

349. Focus Groups for Ukrainians who arrived in Poland after February 24, 2022.

The AMU Welcome Center hosted focus group meetings for Ukrainians who arrived in Poland after February 24, 2022. The event aimed to enable participants to share their stories, express their needs, and discuss the general situation of refugees in Poland. It was also an opportunity to meet others with similar experiences.

The meetings were part of the International Rescue Committee's (IRC) protection monitoring program. Data collected during the meetings is an integral part of the IRC's online reports on the situation of refugees in Poland. These reports reach several hundred thousand readers.w.

355. Summer Schools 2023 – summary

An article by Dr. Kostiantyn Mazur "31 Summer Schools at AMU. No One Else Has Done This" was published in Życie Uniwersyteckie. The article summarizes AMU's activities as part of the "Solidarity with Ukraine" program.

In 2023, the total number of summer school participants was 989. Three hundred people participated in summer schools financed by NAWA (10 summer schools), and 607 people in summer schools financed by NCBR (21 schools). In addition, a workshop was organized for 70 vice-rectors, and 12 participants were invited to take part in an additional school. The Erasmus+ program also provided assistance, enabling the organization of the 1st AMU Staff Week for Ukraine for heads of international cooperation departments at partner universities in Ukraine.

356. Prof. Rafał Witkowski for Życie Uniwersyteckie: “On the Future of Ukrainian Universities in Poznań”

Prof. Rafał Witkowski, Vice-Rector for International Cooperation, remembered the meeting of 60 vice-rectors from Ukrainian universities that took place in November:

Certain solutions were proposed by the Union of Rectors of Ukrainian Universities in cooperation with the CRASP and the Polish Rectors Foundation, but the initiative for further work was also evident on the part of the vice-rectors of Ukrainian universities, who formed their own committee under the auspices of the Union of Rectors of Ukrainian Universities. However, for security reasons, they were unable to meet and discuss the most important issues related to the current state of international cooperation and the necessary reforms in the near future. This became possible thanks to an invitation extended by our university.

374. Launch of the Seeking a New language EPICluster project Narratives on home, (forced) migration and identity of newcoming Ukrainian youth to European cities

The EPICUR research project aims to identify the basic ways of narrating migration and settlement processes in urban spaces among Ukrainian youth. The team consists of researchers from Poland, Greece, Germany, and Ukraine. It investigates how young people who arrived in Freiburg, Poznań, and Thessaloniki after the start of the full-scale Russian invasion of Ukraine familiarized themselves with these spaces and found their place in their new city. The project is part of the EPICluster mobility program.

378. Inauguration of the project "Promoting Academic Freedom for Ukraine"

On February 28-29, the University of Graz hosted a meeting inaugurating the project "Promoting Academic Freedom in Ukraine."

The grant is being implemented by a consortium of eight entities from Austria, Greece, Poland, Ukraine, and Italy. These are: the University of Graz (leader) and the European Center for Studies and Initiatives (CESIE), Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv, KMOP, International Humanitarian University in Odesa, Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań, Sumy State University, and World University Service Austria.

AMU was represented by staff from the Faculty of Political Science and Journalism. The faculty was represented at the inaugural meeting by Prof. Anna Potyrała, Prof. Bartosz Hordecki, and Prof. Jędrzej Skrzypczak.

The grant project aims to mitigate the negative effects of the decline in the number of talented researchers and academic educators in Ukraine after February 24, 2022. It also aims to strengthen institutional cooperation between Ukrainian and EU universities.

379. Psychological support for AMU students and employees

Psychologists and psychotherapists from the AMU Faculty of Psychology and Cognitive Science continue to offer free psychological support and consultations for AMU staff and students who are experiencing loneliness, anxiety or emotional crisis, for example in connection with the Russian Federation's aggression in Ukraine. This assistance has been available since the beginning of the Russian invasion of Ukraine. Volunteers helping migrants can also receive psychological assistance. The consultation schedule is updated at the beginning of each week.

380. Launch of the project "Private hosting of Ukrainian refugees in Polish homes. Everyday humanitarianism and encounters across differences"

The aim of the project is to study the phenomenon of hosting refugees from Ukraine in Polish homes after the outbreak of full-scale war in Ukraine on February 24, 2022 – to understand the causes, dynamics, and effects of this spontaneous, grassroots hospitality of ordinary Polish residents. This research is important in the context of the ongoing discussion at the European Union level on alternative ways of receiving refugees beyond collective accommodation.

The project is led by Prof. Natalia Bloch from the AMU Centre for Migration Studies. The project is funded by the National Science Centre (NCN) under the OPUS program (no. UMO-2023/49/B/HS3/02706). The project will run from March 1, 2024, to February 29, 2028.

382. Cooperation between European and Ukrainian universities: present and future

A delegation from Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań, headed by Rector, Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska, took part in the conference "European and Ukrainian Universities Cooperation: State of Play and Future Perspectives," which was held on March 13 at the University of Strasbourg. Representatives of European universities met with the rectors of 14 Ukrainian universities. It was the first meeting of its kind bringing together several interested parties: state authorities, parliament, the European Commission, Ukrainian universities, and European university alliances. The event was held under the patronage of Ewa Kopacz, Polish Prime Minister in 2014–2015 and Vice-President of the European Parliament.

The meeting, co-financed by NAWA, was organized by AMU and the University of Strasbourg, as partner universities of the EPICUR consortium. During the meeting, the rectors of Ukrainian universities presented the most important problems they are currently facing.

Vice-Rector Rafał Witkowski presented the final document: "Statement of Strategic Partnership." It is an appeal to the European Commission for financial support for alliances of European universities and other European universities that are already involved in cooperation and assistance to Ukrainian universities.

383. Interview with Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska, Rector of Adam Mickiewicz University

An interview with AMU Rector, Prof. Bogumiła Kaniewska, summarizing her four-year term, was published in Życie Uniwersyteckie. Among the issues raised, the Rector mentions the challenges related to the outbreak of full-scale war in Ukraine:

The countless examples of self-sacrifice and commitment by individuals and the university itself are among the most beautiful chapters in our Alma Mater's history. Together, we created this chapter by taking refugees under our roof, welcoming them at the Poznań railway station platforms, and organizing drives for food and medical supplies. The forms of assistance were numerous and varied: trucks were sent to war-torn Ukraine; high school and other exams were organized; and short-term and long-term housing was provided in student dormitories. When the wave of refugees subsided, we realized the need for other forms of support. We realized that they might stay in Poland longer than expected. AMU staff shared their knowledge to support the education of children from families affected by the trauma of war. They participated in numerous social initiatives and helped organize the Ukrainian diaspora.

410. Summer school "Together Towards the Future"

The summer school organized at the AMU Faculty of Educational Studies was a summary of the TOGETHER project. The project was a continuation of cooperation initiated in June 2023 during the previous edition of the summer school for students from Ukraine at the Faculty of Educational Studies. Work on the project began in December 2023. Nearly 100 people were involved, including students, doctoral students, and researchers from Poland and Ukraine.

The summer school became a week of integration between the Poles and Ukrainians, which, after many months of online work, were able to meet in person. It was the culmination of project activities involving students from Ukraine. During lectures, workshops, and integration meetings, the song "Wdzięczność" (Gratitude) was performed together, which was recognized as the anthem of joint activities. The most important part of the project was an international conference held on June 28, 2024, entitled "Together Towards the Future," during which the results of the project work were presented.

411. "TOGETHER TOWARDS THE FUTURE" conference summarizing the cooperation between academic communities in Poland and Ukraine

As part of the Polish-Ukrainian student project TOGETHER, nine thematic teams were formed based on the needs and interests of Polish and Ukrainian students participating in the summer school (2023 edition). The leaders of each project were the academic staff from the Faculty of Educational Studies. A total of 107 people took part in the project, including 49 students from AMU and 39 students from 11 universities in Ukraine.

The projects were scientific, educational, and artistic. The issues addressed by the project teams revolved around current social and educational problems, such as art therapy and art in education, specific educational needs, intercultural education, civic education, media, and volunteering. The results of the project activities include research reports, educational programs and scenarios, online games, and artistic works such as musical compositions, theater performances, photo exhibitions, and installations.

The final part of the project was a conference at the Warsaw School of Economics (June 28, 2024), during which the project groups presented the results of their original work.

Despite the distance between us, we met regularly online, shared the results of our activities, and motivated each other to work. The combination of our scientific potential, educational experience, and human enthusiasm resulted in a unique conference during which we presented our research results, teaching projects, an exhibition, and teaching materials in Polish and Ukrainian for teachers in Poland and Ukraine said Prof. Kinga Kuszak, head of the Polish-Ukrainian RAZEM Project.

418. A researcher from Ukraine carried out a project at the AMU Faculty of Polish and Classical Philology as part of the NAWA Polonista program

In the academic year 2023/2024, Dr. Sofia Butko from V. N. Karazin Kharkiv National University carried out a research project "Polish-language Ruthenian literature from the end of the 16th to the beginning of the 18th century: Linguistic image of the world and cultural codes" at the Faculty of Polish and Classical Philology.

The main objective of the project was to study Polish-language Ruthenian (i.e. Ukrainian) literature using a new approach which, through language analysis, helps to better understand the mentality, worldview, and values of the authors.

The project was financed by the National Agency for Academic Exchange as part of the Polonista scholarship program.

Also as part of the Polonista program, Prof. Igor Kryvosheia from Pavlo Tychyna Uman State Pedagogical University visited Adam Mickiewicz University. Prof. Kryvosheia carried out the project between June 1 and August 31, 2023.

419. Summer School of Psychology and Cognitive Reasoning

On September 8–14, 2024, the AMU Faculty of Psychology and Cognitive Science hosted the third edition of a summer school for female psychology teachers and students from Ukrainian universities cooperating with AMU:

- Oles Honchar Dnipro National University
- National Pedagogical Drahomanov University in Kyiv
- Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University

The participants had previously taken part in a year-long Polish language course organized by the Faculty of Psychology and Cognitive Science in cooperation with the Department of Polish Studies and Translation at the University of Lutsk. The third edition of the school, attended by 32 female researchers and psychology students, was devoted to cognitive science and the psychology of reasoning. The school's program included classes in experimental and cognitive psychology, including workshops on syllogistics, eye tracking, and biofeedback, as well as behavioral experiments.

Participants had the opportunity to learn about research methods used in cognitive psychology and take part in experiments using modern research tools at the Action and Cognition Laboratory and the Reasoning Research Laboratory. The highlight of the school was a tour of the laboratory of the Department of Work and Organisational Psychology (by Dr. Jarosław Grobelny) and the Positive Gaming and Streaming Psychophysiology Lab (by Prof. Łukasz Kaczmarek, Ph.D., and Dominika Pasznik, M.A.). Workshops were conducted by students of the Faculty of Psychology and Cognitive Science: Róża Sateja, Barbara Ristau, Maria Stachowiak, Marta Wojciechowska, Marta Skoro-dziievska, Nikola Kościelak (cognitive science) and Kateryna Shyiko (psychology), as well as Dr. Agnieszka Nowik, Dr. Maciej Raś, Dr. Monika Zielona-Jenek, Prof. Aleksandra Pilarska, and Prof. Mariusz Urbański.

The International Relations Centre, headed by Director Joanna Barszcz, provided enormous assistance in organizing the school. The most important outcome of the school was the academic development of the participants, who had the opportunity to gain practical experience in conducting experiments in cognitive psychology and expand their skills in psychological research methodology.

The form of the classes was conducive to the integration of students from Ukraine and Poland, enabling them to exchange experiences and establish international contacts. Finally, as the school was a continuation of Polish language courses organized by the Faculty of Psychology and Cognitive Science, the participants were able to improve their Polish language skills in an academic context.

Dr. Olena Kolhan, Rector's Representative and Head of the Polish-Ukrainian Center for International Cooperation at DPUN, sent Christmas greetings to AMU staff involved in supporting international cooperation between partner universities.

449. Admission of students from Ukraine to the AMU Faculty of Physics

The Faculty of Physics accepted several Ukrainian students outside the recruitment process under a special law. Professors Sławomir Breiter and Agnieszka Cichy took three of the students under their wing, personally overseeing their maintenance and securing funds for this purpose. Two female students prepared their master's theses under the supervision of Prof. Agnieszka Cichy at the Faculty of Physics.

450. Research on the refugee experience of young people from Ukraine at the AMU Faculty of Sociology

The AMU Faculty of Sociology, in cooperation with the University of Freiburg and the University of Thessaloniki, conducted research on the refugee experience of young people from Ukraine. In particular, it examined how local housing and education policies, as well as public spaces, facilitated or hindered the adaptation and self-fulfillment of refugees in European cities. The project used a variety of research techniques, including surveys and photo interviews.

The project was carried out as part of the EPICUR program between 2022 and 2024 and was led by Dr. Jacek Kubera. An important outcome of the project was a series of multilingual reports with recommendations.

457. Publication of a report summarizing the activities of the Adam Mickiewicz University in support of Ukraine after February 24, 2022

The report was prepared to commemorate the involvement of the entire Adam Mickiewicz University community in providing aid to Ukraine and its citizens. It is a testimony to the numerous aid and solidarity activities and initiatives that arose thanks to the enormous mobilization and commitment of students, doctoral students, and employees of the University.

The report aims not only to honor all those involved, but also to preserve the memory of this difficult but equally unique time, when unity, cooperation, and providing assistance became a common mission for the entire academic community.
