“ My name is Liia Lukina. I am a teacher at the Department of Slavic Languages of Foreign Literature at Pavlo Tychyna Uman State Pedagogical University. I had a wonderful opportunity to be a participant in the Summer School of International Polish Studies in the period from March 20 to 25, 2023.

I can definitely admit that participation in the Summer School was very productive and rich in new acquaintances, knowledge and invaluable experience. I was delighted with the rich program, coolly organized process and conditions in which we lived.

Thanks to the organizers of the School for gathering us in a beautiful place and giving us an opportunity to communicate with excellent speakers, improve their own professional skills, and deepen their knowledge of the history of the language, language etiquette and methods of teaching the Polish language. I think that the experience I've gotten will help me in the future and I will use this knowledge in my career.”

~Liia Lukina, Department of Slavic Languages of Foreign Literature at Pavlo Tychyna Uman State Pedagogical University

“Participation in the summer school allowed me to make a lot of new friends, but it also strengthened my already existing relationships with AMU employees. The most significant thing that has happened since the end of the school: thanks to the support of the AMU employees, especially the Faculty of Polish and Classical Philology, in April, I applied to participate in the POLONISTA programme for researchers, funded by NAWA, - and I won!

So, from October 2023, I will be doing my research project at Adam Mickiewicz University. In my opinion, this is the best proof of the success of the summer school and for this opportunity, I thank you wholeheartedly!”

~ Sofia Budko, PhD, Head of the Centre for International Cooperation in the Field of Education at the Foreign Cooperation Office, coordinator of Polish-Ukrainian cooperation V. N. Karazin Kharkiv National University

“From 19 to 25 March, the Polish Studies Summer School took place, which I attended.

During this week, we were allowed to attend various lectures and learn about the experiences of Polish universities, particularly the first day dedicated to the programmes and scholarships of the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan.

On the second day, we listened to a historical block of lectures during which we learned about the historical grammar of the Polish language and other Slavic languages. However, what I remember most about the third day was the fact that not only were there lectures but also various thematic events, such as a Ukrainian dinner and a bonfire. It made it possible to get closer and to get to know all the participants better.

On the fourth day, we attended the last block of lectures devoted to the Polish language. As a Polish language tutor, I was deeply interested to learn about all the possible materials that could be used in my work with children and adults. On the last day, we visited the Faculty of Polish and Classical Philology at Adam Mickiewicz University and toured Poznań with a fantastic guide.

Overall, I want to emphasise that Polish language schools are an incredible opportunity for students. Obviously, you will not receive a massive amount of knowledge (because it is simply impossible in such a short period of time), but you will gain something no less valuable - new acquaintances and, most importantly, a direction for further development.

Many thanks to all the organisers and participants for the week we spent together! I hope to see you again!.”

~ Anna Pylypchuk, student o the V. N. Karazin Kharkiv National University

The summer school "International Polish Studies" was an unforgettable educational and intercultural experience, resulting in closely-knit cooperation between Ukrainian universities and the Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznan.
